PLAN SEWAGE DISPOSAL PLANT IN THIS CITY

ENGINEER TO MAKE SURVEY OF SITUATION

Plans for building a sewage disposal plant in Circleville were launched at a meeting of City Council, Wednesday night.

City Engineer Sweetman was requested to get into communication with some competent sanitary engineer to ascertain the probable cost of preparing a general sanitary sewer system for the city, with the final object in view of building such a disposal plant for the city.

This action is being asked for by the State Board of Health before this board will approve the plans and give their consent to the city building any more additions to the present sanitary sewer system here.

All members of Council were present last evening when President Goeller called the meeting to order.

Mayor Hedges reported fines, licenses and fees collected during the month of July, in the sum of $187.70 which report was received and placed on file.

A communication was received from the Chamber of Commerce asking Council to join with them in promoting a new passenger railway company being granted permission to discontinue their passenger service through Circleville, and this communication was referred to the Committee on railroads.

A petition signed by J. B. Woods and J. B. Voll asking Council to change the name of "Poor House Lane," to Rosewood Avenue, was received and read, and placed on file.

An ordinance providing that the thoroughfare now known as "Poor House Lane," shall be hereafter known as "Rosewood Avenue," was introduced and read for the first time.

The Council as a Committee of the Whole will meet Thursday afternoon or evening to confer with officials of the water company in regard to fixing the rates to be charged for water.

Charles Mason and Edward Helwagen appeared before Council with the request that the city cut down the hill on both East and W. Water-st. at the intersection of Court-st.

Until this improvement can be made the question of the city making temporary repairs at this location was referred to the committee on Department of Public Service and City Engineer.

The usual voting placed in the city of Circleville, Ohio, were designated by council for the general primary election to be held on August 14, 1928.

The budget for the year of 1929 was approved by council and ordered returned to the office of the county auditor.

BOOTLEGGING STILL GROWING IN STATE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—Bootlegging is increasing in Ohio judging from a report Acting Administrator W. N. Woodruff filed to day with Prohibition Commissioner James M. Doran, covering the year ending June 30, 1928.

The report shows great gains over the previous fiscal year in the number of liquor law violators arrested by federal agents. A slight decrease in the amount of whiskey seized was shown, but the amount of home brew taken showed a considerable increase.

FINNISH RUNNER IS VICTOR IN BIG RACE

America Continues To Lose Honors On Track As Well As Field.

By FRANK GETTY
United Press Staff Correspondent.

AMSTERDAM, Aug. 2.—Ray Conger failed to stem the tide that is carrying American track men to defeat when Larva, of Finland, won the Olympic 1,500 metres run today.

American casualties began today on the field instead of the track when Charles Harlow, Los Angeles A. C., was eliminated in the first series of the javelin throwing trials and Sidney Bowman, Hammond High school, Louisiana, and Robert Kelly, Olympic Club, California, were eliminated in the hop, step and jump finals.

Levi B. Casey, Los Angeles A. C., qualified easily in the hop, step and jump finals.

Conger, the Iowa veteran, was the only American survivor in the final.

La Doumergue of France, won second place in the race and another Finn, was third.

Larva's time was 3 minutes, 53.2 seconds—an Olympic record.

The old Olympic record of 3 minutes, 53.6 seconds was held by Paavo Nurmi of Finland, who made it at the Paris Olympics in 1924.

In the first series of the hop, step and jump, the best to qualify, the leaders were:

Ode, Spain, 15.21 metres.

Tukula, Finland, 14.73 metres.

AMSTERDAM, Aug. 2.—The Harvard University crew was eliminated by Germany in the 4th heat of the four-oared shells with coxswains in the first day of the Olympic rowing today.

In the Harvard shell were: Bow, A. Cushman; No. 2, C. E. Mason, Jr.; No. 3, J. De W. Hubbard; stroke, J. Lawrence, Jr. Coxswain, E. L. Weiss.

Harvard lost by inches. The crew failed to produce the necessary final spurt after the crews had raced evenly all along the course.

Germany's time was 7 minutes, 19.8 seconds.

SETTLEMENT OF STRIKE HOPED FOR

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., Aug. 2.—Strike-stricken New Bedford today quietly awaited the decision of 26 mill corporations and some 28,000 operatives on the question of arbitration.

Whether the long labor dispute, now in its 16th week, is to be amicably adjusted in the immediate future or whether the wheels of industry in this great textile center are to remain silent through many more weeks of strife, will be determined by these verdicts.

The state board of conciliation and arbitration is hopeful that its peace proposition—under which both sides would submit their differences to a disinterested tribunal—will be accepted. Today there appeared no other avenue which would lead to an early settlement.

CITES HANDICAP OF FARMER IN SPEECH

MECHANICSBURG, O., Aug. 2.—The farmer's most serious handicap is the wide gap between him as the producer, and the consumer, Congressman Theodore Burton, candidate for the Republican senatorial nomination, said in an address here last night.

Burton defended Herbert Hoover, the Republican presidential nominee, as "the best and truest friend the farmer has."

An unjustified campaign, based on inaccuracies, has been waged against Mr. Hoover, he said.

INFANT IS BURIED

Harold L., the stillborn child of Arnold and Elizabeth Leist Reichelderfer, of Tarkenton, born July 31st was buried in Tarkenton cemetery.

NEW YORK—Determined not to spend his entire life in one place Jurgis Skinderis, 104, arrived yesterday from Tityvenai, Lithuania, to make his home in the United States.

WATER RATES TO BE TAKEN UP THURSDAY

City Council, as a committee of one with its hired attorneys, will meet officials of the Ohio Water Service company either late Thursday afternoon or tonight in an attempt to thresh out a rate for water consumers in Circleville.

In all probability the meeting will be held at 7:30 p. m. at the Council chamber in the City Building.

The rate discussion will be open to the public and water consumers who are interested—and that is generally conceded to be about everyone—are urged to attend the session.

When the fight for lower water rates in Circleville was first launched by The Circleville Herald and later taken up at a meeting of City Council, it was decided that merely the attorneys of the City of Circleville and officials of the water company would meet on the matter.

At the meeting of City Council Wednesday night, however, it was unanimously decided that City Council as a whole should convene with the water officials and attempt to settle the question of rates.

Circleville at present is paying 95 cents per 1,000 gallons for the first 2,000 gallons of water consumed per quarter, a rate said to be the second highest in the State of Ohio.

Lower water rates in the city are anticipated as a result of the meeting this afternoon or tonight.

It was generally agreed that while water works officials would arrive in the city this afternoon, the meeting would not be held until 7:30 p. m. in order that citizens interested may attend.

FAILURE CERTAIN IN COAL MEETING

COLUMBUS, Aug. 2.—Certain failure of the joint conference scheduled for today between mine union officials and operators was predicted by officials of the larger companies. The conference was called by Lee Hall, president of the union, to negotiate a mutually satisfactory wage scale for Ohio. Predicted by officials.

Union officials had "nothing to say" regarding today's conference.

None of the "larger operators" will attend the session, according to George K. Smith, president of the Sunday Creek Coal Company, who said he had talked with practically all of them within the last few days.

W. C. T. U. HEAD IS BACKING COOPER

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 2.—Mrs. Florence D. Richards, Toledo, president of the Ohio Women's Christian Temperance Union, today was sending out letters over the state in support of Myers Y. Cooper, Cincinnati, for the Republican nomination for governor, according to a publicity statement issued by Cooper campaign headquarters.

The statement indirectly charges that a marked ballot prepared by Mrs. Richards and Mrs. S. F. Edwards, Leipsic, legislative representative of the organization, based on answers to questionnaires sent the candidates, and endorsing Cooper, was changed after it was sent here.

TRUAN TO SPEAK

DAYTON, O., Aug. 2.—C. V. Truax, director of agriculture for Ohio and candidate for the democratic nomination for U. S. senator, will address the women's democratic club here Friday night.

Romance Isn't Dead—Quite

Maybe George D. Noebeling, Greenwich Village habitue and scion of wealthy Philadelphia family, is a throwback to the age of chivalry—or something. At any rate he fought a duel for his "ladye fair" and then tried to take his life because he couldn't get a job as an actor. The lady in question, Billy Netcong, is pictured consoling him in Knickerbocker Hospital, whither he was taken after leaping 75 feet to the hard pavement in Morningside Park. He's going to recover, marry Billy and live happily ever after.

Ten Couples Still 'Hoofin' It' Up In Dancing Marathon

BUCKEYE LAKE, O., Aug. 2.—Ten couples were "hoofin' it hot" today in the dance derby, being held at this Licking county summer resort. One couple quit the marathon yesterday, Opal Duffy of Bellaire and Joseph Smith, of Brighton, Pa.

Fourteen couples started in the dance last Sunday midnight. The ten couples still in the contest had danced 84 hours at noon today.

Effort is being made to break the world's record of 630 hours of continuous dancing. Prizes total $800.

20 MEET DEATH IN JAP TYPHOON

TOKIO, August 2.—Twenty persons are known to have been killed in the worst typhoon that has struck this part of Japan in 18 years.

The typhoon has been raging for three days and rivers have overflowed sending a torrent of water surging into the surrounding districts.

Several tunnels and embankments have collapsed owing to landslides, brought on by the excessive rainfall, and the landslides disrupted rail service.

Communications have been damaged seriously.

It was estimated that the total damage might be $10,000,000.

HOOVER HAS NEW CAMPAIGN ISSUE: IT'S ABOUT FISH

ABROAD HOOVER TRAIN ENROUTE TO SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 2.—Herbert Hoover has discovered a new public question of major importance, during his thousand mile vacation.

"The issue in this country, we have found, is 'more trout and less time between bites'," the Republican presidential nominee announced when he returned empty handed from a day's fishing excursion to Medicine lake before boarding his train to return home.

Hoover and his 21-year-old son, Allan, fished all day in the lake which is supposed to abound in trout at certain seasons of the year. Allan caught the only fish. The best the nominee could do was to help haul it in.

It has been the same story during the entire five day motor journey through southern Oregon and northern California. On two days the nominee caught none at all and the other day he fished, he hooked only 12 small brook trout which could be served only as a relish, not an entree.

But the nominee is in good spirits to open his campaign. His face is tanned and he is physically fit for the ordeal which will start as soon as he makes his acceptance speech at Palo Alto August 11. He has not been pestered by his bad fishing luck which really has been so bad that it has become the stock joke of the candidate's retinue.

FEAR MISSING MAN IS AMNESIA VICTIM

CLEVELAND, Aug. 2.—Police today expressed the opinion that R. Clark Gilmore, Western Reserve University instructor, who has been missing from his home since Saturday, is an amnesia victim.

Gilmore left home after drawing $270 from a bank, his wife said he had rented an auto and driven to the university. Nothing more was heard of him after that, she told police.

SENDS RADIO CALL FOR AID FROM VESSELS

'No Immediate Danger,' However, Flier of Oceanic Airplane Says.

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—Capt. Frank T. Courtney and his three British companions were forced to land on the open sea today approximately half way between the Azores Islands and Newfoundland while attempting the second stage of their projected one-stop flight from Lisbon to North America.

Courtney communicated by radio with ships in the vicinity of his landing place and they in turn passed the word along to London and New York that the plane was in no immediate danger but needed help.

The steamships, President Hayes, Celtic and Cedric were reported to have left their regular courses to hasten to Courtney's aid. His position was given as in latitude 42 degrees north and longitude 41 west. That is approximately 720 miles out of Horta in the Azores and 580 miles from Newfoundland.

The Swedish motorship, Crispin, advised the Radio Marine corporation here that the North German Lloyd steamer, Oceanus, was also changing its course to go to the aid of the stranded plane.

Captain Courtney, accompanied by E. B. Komer, Montreal, and Fred Pierce, mechanical engineer, W. Kinross, radio operator, and Horta today at 1:30 a. m. after waiting there for some two months since their flight from Lisbon on June 28. They were bound for Newfoundland and then down the coast to New York, completing the first westward crossing of the Atlantic with a stop in the Azores.

Capt. Johnson of the German Lloyd liner, Columbus, today radioed his company's headquarters here that his vessel was 210 miles from the Dorset-Napier boat.

The liner Franconia was the first to notify the world that the Courtney plane was down. The Franconia sent its message to London saying "plane wants immediate help but in no immediate danger. Steamers Cedric and Celtic are handling it."

JOHN WEAVER, 70, PASSES AT HOME IN CLARKSBURG

Superintendent of Asbury Chapel For 15 Years; Burial At Williamsport.

John Weaver, 70, passed away at his home in Clarksburg, Wednesday. He was born Feb. 2, 1858, and was a son of James and Nancy Immel Weaver.

He married Miss Emma Noon Feb. 23, 1880. His wife and one daughter, Mrs. Mary Garrison, survive.

Of his immediate family one brother, Zachariah Weaver, of Barnett, Mo., is living and also five grandchildren.

The deceased was superintendent of Asbury Chapel church, for 15 years and also of the Spring Bank church for a number of years.

JANITOR IS HIT BY HALL MACHINE AND IS BRUISED

Adam Goldhart Struck While Crossing Court-St. Early Thursday Morning.

Adam Goldhart, janitor of the Presbyterian church and The Circleville Savings and Banking Company, was hit by an auto while crossing Court-st. early Thursday morning, and was knocked down and bruised considerably.

Goldhart, it is said, had crossed Main-st. on the red light, but in reaching the corner of Court and Main, he attempted to cross Court-st. from Crist's Department store to the First National Bank corner.

The green signal was against him and the autos of Charles H. Smith going north and that of Dallas Hall going south were using the street crossing the same time that Mr. Goldhart was attempting to also cross the street.

The car of Dallas Hall hit Mr. Goldhart. Mr. Hall, according to witnesses, was not driving fast.

Mr. Hall reported at the police station.

Officer McCrady took Mr. Goldhart to his home on S. Scioto-st. where Dr. Allen dressed his bruises.

CORN BORER TOLD ABOUT AT CLUB'S NOONDAY MEETING

Rotarians Hear Federal Expert Describe Workings of Grain Menace.

E. F. Deyo of the United States Department of Agriculture, told the Rotarians about the corn borer problems and what the farmers of Pickaway-co must do to combat this pest at the club's luncheon Thursday.

It is not so much the job of exterminating the borer, that the farmer has to consider, so much as how to live with the borer, he said. He laid stress on the fact that the best way to meet the borer is by clean farming. "Cut the corn close, clean up all the loose stalks, burn every bit of debris that is on the ground and make certain to have this clean-up made before May 1st, when the moth starts laying the eggs," he said.

At the present time the inspectors are making a survey of Pickaway-co and find that the borer is in Scioto, Madison, Walnut and Washington townships.

The rate discussion will be open to the public and water consumers who are interested—and that is generally conceded to be about everyone—are urged to attend the session.

When the fight for lower water rates in Circleville was first launched by The Circleville Herald and later taken up at a meeting of City Council, it was decided that merely the attorneys of the City of Circleville and officials of the water company would meet on the matter.

At the meeting of City Council Wednesday night, however, it was unanimously decided that City Council as a whole should convene with the water officials and attempt to settle the question of rates.

Circleville at present is paying 95 cents per 1,000 gallons for the first 2,000 gallons of water consumed per quarter, a rate said to be the second highest in the State of Ohio.

Lower water rates in the city are anticipated as a result of the meeting this afternoon or tonight. It was generally agreed that while water works officials would arrive in the city this afternoon, the meeting would not be held until 7:30 p. m., in order that citizens interested may attend.

FAILURE CERTAIN IN COAL MEETING

COLUMBUS, Aug. 2.—Certain failure of the joint conference scheduled for today between mine union officials and operators was predicted by officials of the larger companies. The conference was called by Lee Hall, president of the union, to negotiate a mutually satisfactory wage scale for Ohio. Predicted by officials.

Union officials had "nothing to say" regarding today's conference.

W. C. T. U. HEAD IS BACKING COOPER

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 2.—Mrs. Florence D. Richards, Toledo, president of the Ohio Women's Christian Temperance Union, today was sending out letters over the state in support of Myers Y. Cooper, Cincinnati, for the Republican nomination for governor, according to a publicity statement issued by Cooper campaign headquarters.

The statement indirectly charges that a marked ballot prepared by Mrs. Richards and Mrs. S. F. Edwards, Leipsic, legislative representative of the organization, based on answers to questionnaires sent the candidates, and endorsing Cooper, was changed after it was sent here.

TRUAX TO SPEAK

DAYTON, O., Aug. 2.—C. V. Truax, director of agriculture for Ohio and candidate for the democratic nomination for U. S. senator, will address the women's democratic club here Friday night.

Romance Isn't Dead—Quite

Maybe George D. Noebeling, Greenwich Village habitue and scion of wealthy Philadelphia family, is a throwback to the age of chivalry—or something. At any rate he fought a duel for his "lady fair" and then tried to take his life because he couldn't get a job as an actor. The lady in question, Billy Netcong, is pictured consoling him in Knickerbocker Hospital, whither he was taken after leaping 75 feet to the hard pavement in Morningside Park. He's going to recover, marry Bill and live happily ever after.

Ten Couples Still "Hoofin' It" Up In Dancing Marathon

BUCKEYE LAKE, O., Aug. 2.—Ten couples were "hoofin' it hot" today in the dance derby being held at this Licking county summer resort. One couple quit the marathon yesterday, Opal Duffy of Bellaire and Joseph Smith, of Brighton, Pa.

Fourteen couples started in the dance last Sunday midnight. The ten couples still in the contest had danced 84 hours at noon today.

Effort is being made to break the world's record of 630 hours of continuous dancing. Prizes total $800.

20 MEET DEATH IN JAP TYPHOON

TOKIO, August 2.—Twenty persons are known to have been killed in the worst typhoon that has struck this part of Japan in 18 years.

The typhoon has been raging for three days and rivers have overflowed sending a torrent of water surging into the surrounding districts.

Several tunnels and embankments have collapsed owing to excessive rainfall, and the landslides disrupted rail service.

Communications have been damaged seriously. It was estimated that the total damage might be $10,000,000.

NAME AIR FIELD

DAYTON, Aug. 2.—Wilbur Wright field here will be one of the control stations for the transcontinental air race between New York and Los Angeles, Cal., to be held early in September, it was announced yesterday. The race is part of the program of the national air races to be held in Los Angeles.

'No Immediate Danger,' However, Flier of Oceanic Airplane Says.

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—Captain Frank T. Courtney and his three British companions were forced to land on the open sea today approximately half way between the Azores Islands and Newfoundland while attempting the second stage of their projected one-stop flight from Lisbon to North America.

Courtney communicated by radio with ships in the vicinity of his landing place and they in turn passed the word along to London and New York that the plane was in no immediate danger but needed help.

The steamships, President Hayes, Celtic and Cedric were reported to have left their regular courses to hasten to Courtney's aid. His position was given as in latitude 42 degrees north and longitude 41 west. That is approximately 720 miles out of Horta in the Azores and 880 miles from Newfoundland.

The Swedish motorship, Cripsholm, advised the Radio Marine corporation here that the North German Lloyds steamer, Columbus, was also changing its course to go to the aid of the stranded plane.

Captain Courtney, accompanied by E. B. Kosmer, Montreal banker, Fred Pierce, mechanic, and E. W. Kilmour, radio operator, left Horta today at 1:55 a. m. EST after waiting there for more than a month since their flight from Lisbon on June 28. They intended to fly to Newfoundland and then down the coast to New York, completing the first westward crossing of the Atlantic with a stop at Azores.

Capt. Johnson of the German Lloyd liner Columbus day radioed his company's office here that his vessel was 210 n. from the Dornier-Napier fly boat.

"Left westbound track to search for Capt. Courtney Blane" the captain radioed. "Approximate distance from plane 210 miles."

The liner Franconia was the first to notify the world that the Courtney plane was down. The Franconia sent its message to London saying "plane wants immediate help but in no immediate danger. Steamers Cedric and Celtic are handling it."

JOHN WEAVER, 70, PASSES AT HOME IN CLARKSBURG

Superintendent of Asbury Chapel For 15 Years; Burial At Williamsport.

John Weaver, 70, passed away at his home in Clarksburg, Wednesday. He was born Feb. 25, 1858, and was a son of James and Nancy Imme Weaver.

He married Miss Emma Noon Feb. 25, 1880. His wife and one daughter, Mrs. Mary Garrison, survive.

U.S. Places Its Hopes in Slender Ray Conger

IOWAN IS TO BE SOLE MAN IN FINAL RUN

Nation's Triumph Not Endangered But Track Prestige Is At Stake.

By FRANK GETTY

United Press Sports Editor.

AMSTERDAM, Aug. 2.—The slender and rather frail appearing Ray Conger of Iowa today was called upon to succeed whether other United States trackmen have failed.

Conger is the one American entrant in the 1,500 metres final, a race filled with the star middle distance men of the world—and a victory for this veteran Iowa runner would do much to cheer up the United States trackmen.

Not that United States victory is threatened greatly in this ninth Olympiad, for the wearers of the red, white and blue shield are well ahead, but the team wants to regain some of its lost track prestige.

Such famous track stars as Charley Paddock, Charley Borah, Bob MacAllister, Frank Wykoff, Lloyd Hahn and Ray Watson have gone down to defeat behind the flying feet of British and Canadian runners. Not a track event has been won by the heretofore all-speedy Americans.

It has remained for the field stars of the United States team to amass the 123½ points that have placed the red, white and blue colors more than three times farther along than the closest competitor—Great Britain.

That triple victory in the pole vault—Carr, Drogemuller and McGinnis—Bud Houser's great toss of the discus, and the earlier victories by Johnny Kuck, Eddie Hahn and Bob King are responsible for the victorious drive of the United States.

Conger was hopeful today he could restore United States track prestige. He ran a beautiful race in the trials yesterday showing a burst of speed to nose out the great Edwin Wide of Sweden. But the test today will be even more difficult with the greatest middle distance men of all nations running against him.

Today's program:
400 meter run, first trials.
Javelin throw, final.
Hop, step and jump, final.
1,500 meter run, final.
800 meter run, final women.
400 meter run, second trials.

United States' hopes in the hop, step and jump center in three Californians and a Southerner—Levi E. Casey, Los Angeles A. C.; Sidney Bowman of Louisiana; Robert Kelley of the Olympic Club, Los Angeles and Lloyd H. Bourgeois of San Francisco.

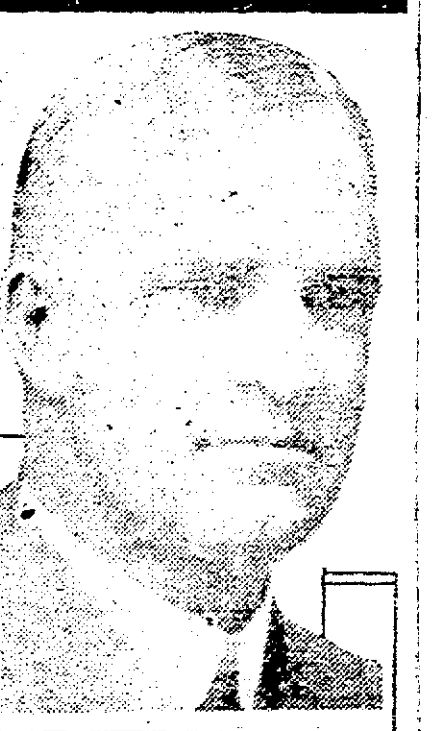

Javelin hopes center in Greth Hines of Georgetown University; Charles Harlow of the Los Angeles A. C.; Arthur Sager of the Boston A. A. and Lee M. Bartlett of Albion College, Michigan.

One hero has emerged from the ninth Olympiad and it is the slight, 130 pound Percy Williams, an 18-year-old school boy of Vancouver. He chased away the United States giants in two thrilling runs—the 100 metres and the 400 metres—to carry two firsts for Canada.

He came here almost unheralded. The Olympics had heard of the famous United States runners Germany had several fleet dash men. But this youngster from Canada was unknown.

was startling. When he again dashed home the victor in the 400 metres yesterday, it was almost a precedent affair—because only twice before had dash men succeeded in winning both the 100 and 400 metre events at the Olympic games. Ralph Craig did it at Stockholm and Archie Hahn had succeeded in doing it several years before.

The victory of Williams recalled what the British expert Harold Abrahams, Olympic 100 metre champion in 1924, told me just before the start of the games.

"Three men who will win will be Williams, Atkinson and Burghley," Abrahams said.

No one paid much attention to the prediction. But Williams won the 100 and 400. Sid Atkinson of South Africa yesterday won the 110 metre hurdles from the crack United States stars. Lord Burghley had won the 400 metre hurdles with ease.

Bud Houser and Sabin Carr set up new records yesterday, in the quiet and workmanlike way that characterizes their track activity. Houser tossed the discus 155 feet, 2 inches to break his own Paris Olympic record. Carr established a new Olympic record by vaulting 13 feet 9 3/8 inches.

RICKARD SAYS CHAMP IS TO WORK WAY UP

Will Come Up From Ranks To Succeed Tunney, Fight Promoter Opines.

By GEORGE KIRKSEY

U. P. Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—"The next heavyweight champion will come up from the ranks," Tex Rickard said to this correspondent after Gene Tunney announced retirement from the ring.

The premier promoter of all times believes that the next champion will be some unknown youngster who will catapult to fame over night.

Unless Rickard can uncover some youngster with a punch, the heavyweight elimination tournament which he will stage, beginning in September, is likely to prove as much a disappointment as the last tournament which developed Tom Heeney as the challenger for Gene Tunney's title.

The first step toward clarifying the heavyweight situation was not made by Rickard, but by Humbert J. Fugazy, who matched Johnny Risko of Cleveland with Roberto Roberti, the giant Italian, for a ten round bout at Ebbets field, Brooklyn, Aug. 15.

Danny Dunn, Risko's manager, holds a grudge against Rickard because Risko was not given more consideration for the 1928 title bout, and he may not enter Risko in Rickard's heavyweight elimination tournament at all.

"Rickard gave my boy the run around after he whipped Sharkey when the best Heeney could do was to get a draw with him," Dunn said. "The competition is wide open now and I don't see why we should wait on Rickard. Risko is ready to meet all comers and prove he's the best middle heavyweight in the world."

Rickard went on a fishing trip after Tunney's retirement and will not return to the city until next week. Until that time his plans for the heavyweight tournament will remain unaltered.

FRANK GETTY

Two tiny whirlwinds are going to meet in Detroit tonight and one of them is likely to blow the other right out of the ring.

You can scan the lightweight division from the top to the bottom without finding two harder punchers than Jimmy McLarnin and Stanislaus Loayza. It promises to be one of the greatest battles since Benny Leonard nailed his gloves to the wall and went in for journalism in a big way.

It was five years ago that "Pop" Foster got off a train at San Francisco, leading a 16-year-old boy by the hand. Foster made the rounds of San Francisco fight promoters seeking a match for the boy.

"What's the kid's name?" one promoter asked Foster.

"McLarnin, Jimmy McLarnin," was the answer.

The promoter looked at McLarnin's cherub face for a minute, tossed his cigar away and said:

"Well, you had better take him back to high school. He might get hurt if he fights."

Came On Too Fast.

Perseverance won, and one night a month later McLarnin found himself in the ring opposite Frankie Sands. It was a preliminary, the winner to get $35. McLarnin got the $35. After that the road to fame smoothed out ahead of him. Up through the ranks he went, knocking out Sid Terris, rocking Phil McGraw to sleep and creating havoc in the realm of the lightweights. McLarnin came on too fast, for one day the word was brought to "Baby Face" that he had been matched with Sammy Mandell for the championship.

No one who was at the Polo Grounds in New York that night will forget the fight. McLarnin tore in, his fists pumping like pistons. But he was fighting a ghost that night. Mandell slipped around the ring like a cat, sneaking in long lefts to McLarnin's face. McLarnin won the decision.

"McLarnin is the hardest hitter I ever fought," Mandell said in his dressing room as he nursed a swollen left hand.

In 1926 the name of McLarnin was not to be found among the ten leading lightweights. In 1927 he was ranked second. Plenty of people will bet you that he will be No. 1 in 1928.

Loayza's Record Spotty.

Loayza is somewhat of a puncher himself. Before he deserted his native Chile for the more lucrative shores of America, he had scored sixteen knockouts out of 19 fights. He won the other three by decision.

His record in the United States has been spotty. He has won a decision over Phil McGraw and fought one draw with him; he has lost decisions to King Tut and Sid Terris. Boxing is not Loayza's game; he goes into the ring to fight and if his opponent tries to spar, the Chilean loses interest.

That is why his bout with McLarnin promises to be chock full of thrills. "Baby Face" isn't so strong on the boxing himself. He would rather stand toe-to-toe and fight it out.

Loayza was eighth in the ranking of lightweights in 1926 and the next year found him in the same position. If he would take the trouble to learn to box better, his record would be more impressive, for there are any number of fights he could have won if he had known how to feint and wait for a chance to shoot across his knockout punch.

"Rickard gave my boy the run around after he whipped Sharkey when the best Heeney could do was to get a draw with him," Dunn said. "The competition is wide open now and I don't see why we should wait on Rickard. Risko is ready to meet all comers and prove he's the best active heavyweight in the world."

Rickard went on a fishing trip after Tunney's retirement and will not return to the city until next week. Until that time his plans for the heavyweight tournament will remain undetermined.

CRANDALL SIGNS UP
WICHITA, KANS., Aug. 2.—Otis Crandall, formerly New York Giant pitcher now managing the Wichita Western League club, has signed as pitcher with the Sacramento team of the Pacific Coast league.

IT PAY TO ADVERTISE

SPORTSMATTER

BY FRANK GETTY

Two tiny whirlwinds are going to meet in Detroit tonight and one of them is likely to blow the other right out of the ring.

You can scan the lightweight division from the top to the bottom without finding two harder punchers than Jimmy McLarnin and Stanislaus Loayza. It promises to be one of the greatest battles since Benny Leonard nailed his gloves to the wall and went in for journalism in a big way.

It was five years ago that "Pop" Foster got off a train at San Francisco, leading a 16-year-old boy by the hand. Foster made the rounds of San Francisco fight promoters seeking a match for the boy.

"What's the kid's name?" one promoter asked Foster.

"McLarnin, Jimmy McLarnin," was the answer.

The promoter looked at McLarnin's cherub face for a minute, tossed his cigar away and said:

"Well, you had better take him back to high school. He might get hurt if he fights."

Came On Too Fast.

Perseverance won, and one night a month later McLarnin found himself in the ring opposite Frankie Sands. It was a preliminary, the winner to get $35. McLarnin got the $35. After that the road to fame smoothed out ahead of him. Up through the ranks he went, knocking out Sid Terris, rocking Phil McGraw to sleep and creating havoc in the realm of the lightweights. McLarnin came on too fast, for one day the word was brought to "Baby Face" that he had been matched with Sammy Mandell for the championship.

No one who was at the Polo Grounds in New York that night will forget the fight. McLarnin tore in, his fists pumping like pistons. But he was fighting a ghost that night. Mandell slipped around the ring like a cat, sneaking in long lefts to McLarnin's face. Mandell won the decision.

"McLarnin is the hardest hitter I ever fought," Mandell said in his dressing room as he nursed a swollen left hand.

In 1926 the name of McLarnin was not to be found among the ten leading lightweights. In 1927 he was ranked second. Plenty of people will bet you that he will be No. 1 in 1929.

Loayza's Record Spotty.
Loayza is somewhat of a puncher himself. Before he deserted his native Chile for the more lucrative shores of America, he had scored sixteen knockouts out of 19 fights. He won the other three by decision.

His record in the United States has been spotty. He has won a decision over Phil McGraw and fought one draw with him; he has lost decisions to King Tut and Sid Terris. Boxing is not Loayza's game; he goes into the ring to fight and if his opponent tries to spar, the Chilean loses interest.

That is why his bout with McLarnin promises to be chock full of thrills. "Baby Face" isn't so strong on the boxing himself. He would rather stand toe-to-toe and fight it out.

Loayza was eighth in the ranking of lightweights in 1926 and the next year found him in the same position. If he would take the trouble to learn to box better, his record would be more impressive, for there are any number of fights he could have won if he had known how to feint and wait for a chance to shoot across his knockout punch.

Hodgkin's Disease Among Those to Which Medical Men Are Directing an Enlightened Investigation with Good Results.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States Senator from New York
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

A CORRESPONDENT writes that he is unable to find out the cause of Hodgkin's disease. He has been told he is suffering from this disease, but the doctor does not tell the cause or assure him of recovery.

DR. COPELAND

Back in 1832 Hodgkin found a number of persons suffering from the same group of symptoms. He noticed enlargement of the lymph glands, speedily followed by anemia. It was found, too, that this particular disease seemed more prevalent among males than females. He told the medical world about the ailment, and the disease was given the name Hodgkin's Disease.

Besides the symptoms I have mentioned, there are other and more acute symptoms. The tonsils become acutely infected, the glands in the neck swell and the spleen is greatly enlarged. In addition, there may be fever, and the skin turns dark, having a bronzed appearance. There may be boils and intense itching. As the disease progresses there are pain, cough and difficult breathing.

I have shown you the worst side of the picture. Many times the onset of this disease is so gradual and the symptoms so slight that there may be doubt as to the true nature of the ailment. Examination of the blood and gland secretions is the usual method of determining for certain what is wrong. When the glands of the neck are alone enlarged and the swelling does not appear to progress rapidly, surgical excision will often prevent the spread of the infection to other glands.

The anemia may not always appear at once. In fact, the trouble progresses so slowly in some cases that by medical treatment and special care of the general health little change is noticed in the patient.

Fresh air, sunshine, good nourishment, food, including plenty of milk, cream and eggs will help a lot. In certain cases X-ray and radium treatment have been found extremely beneficial.

The one drug which seems to have the greatest effect in Hodgkin's disease is arsenic. This may be given in a number of ways but, of course, in every case the doctor prescribes it.

Because you have been told you have Hodgkin's disease do not be discouraged. Every day new discoveries are made to promote the span of life, even in the so-called hopeless diseases.

To my mind, one of the satisfactory characteristics of this generation is the energy with which the scientists are dealing with disease. Many conditions now regarded as incurable will yield to research.

64 Hurt In "L" Collision

Nothing but kindling wood and a little twisted metal is left of these two car vestibules after a collision on New York's "L" which injured more than three-score persons. At the extreme left is ladder down which firemen carried terrified women and children, while in car windows hang chemical hose lines used to fight blaze.

Baseball

Yesterday's hero—Henry Johnson, pitcher for the New York Yankees, who made five hits in five times at bat against the St. Louis Browns.

Babe Ruth's 42nd home run of the season was only part of the slugfest enjoyed by the Yanks in winning over the Browns, 12 to 1. Bob Meusel added a homer in the sixth while Johnson's five hits were only two less than he yielded to the Browns. The only member of the Yankee cast who failed to get a hit was Earl Coombs, at bat six times. Babe Ruth now needs only 19 more homers to surpass his record of 60. The Yanks have 52 more games.

The Philadelphia Athletics kept pace with the Yanks by defeating Cleveland 6 to 4. Willis Hudlin was driven from the box under a barrage of extra base hits by Miller Huggins and Poley. Huggins led the attack on the Indians, with three hits in five times at bat. Howard Ehmke was chased when the Indians launched a three run attack in the seventh. It was Philadelphia's ninth straight win.

The Chicago White Sox stretched their winning streak to five games by winning a double-header from the Boston Red Sox 4 to 2 and 7 to 3. Metzler hit two triples and Mostil one. Young Ed Walsh went the route in the nightcap, beating the Red Sox for the second time this season.

An opening inning batting rally that netted seven runs off Tom Zachary and Marberry gave the Detroit Tigers a 10 to 5 victory over the Washington Senators. Hargreave, Detroit catcher, hit a home run in the seventh with two on base.

All National League games were rained out.

PASTOR DROWNED WHEN BOAT TURNS OVER IN SQUALL

Rev. Frank P. George, Fairfield-Co., Meets Death; Companion Saved.

Rev. Frank P. George, whom the press dispatches announced Wednesday as being drowned in Lake Erie, near Castalia, Whites Landing, Sandusky Bay, was a former citizen of Fairfield-Co. He was born near Bremen and was a circuit preacher. He had charge of congregations at Mt. Olive, Baltimore, Bethany, Pleasantville, Otterbein and Bremen. When the Ku Klux movement spread over the country, he practically left the ministry and became a Klan lecturer.

He re-entered the ministry when the movement died out and at the time of his death was pastor of the Hedmon-st. Community Church at Marion.

His wife, three children, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas George, of Pleasantville, three brothers and a sister are living.

Rev. George, was out fishing with two other ministers. A sudden squall overturned the light craft, and all three men were thrown into the lake. His companions managed to come up and held to the boat but Rev. George drowned. His companions held onto the boat all night, and were rescued Wednesday morning by the owner of the boat, who went in search of the men in his motor boat, after they failed to appear.

Every Boy Needs a Dog
Every boy should grow up with a dog, for the association thereby will make of the boy a firmer, kinder, truer man, some day, when he becomes a man. He will learn to love fairness, justice and mercy, just as he will come to hate meanness, cruelty and cowardice, through daily contact with his big-eyed, shaggy-coated, understanding friend. If the boy unhappily is vicious, intemperate, or destructive he will find in his voiceless associate a wordless rebuke for the sin of his commission. It is the inevitable way of a dog with a boy, and the dog knows, moreover, because through him the infinite forces of the universe are functioning as freely as the wind through winter trees.—David Arnold Bales in the New Age Illustrated.

It costs very little to recondition a MODEL T FORD

FOR nearly twenty years, the Model T Ford led the motor industry and it still is used by more people than any other automobile. More than eight million Model T Fords are in active service today—an indication of their sturdy worth, reliability and economy.

The cost of reconditioning the Model T Ford is small because of the low cost of Ford parts and the established Ford policy of charging all labor at a standard flat rate.

For a labor charge of $20 to $25 you can have your motor and transmission completely overhauled. This price includes new bearings, reboring cylinders and any other work necessary. Parts are extra.

Valves can be ground and carbon removed for $3 to $4. The cost of tightening all main bearings is only $6. The labor charge for overhauling the front axle is $4.50 to $5—rear axle assembly, $5.75 to $7.

New universal joint will be installed for a labor charge of $3. Brake shoes relined for $1.50. Rear spring and perches rebushed for $1.75. The cost of overhauling the starting motor is $3. A labor charge of approximately $2.50 covers the overhauling of the generator.

Repainting runs from $10 to $25. Taking dents out of body panels and doors runs from $3 to $16 for labor. A fender can be replaced for a labor charge of $1 to $2.50. The cost of fenders runs from $3.50 to $5.

It will pay you, therefore, to see your Ford dealer and have him put your Model T in good running order. By doing so you will protect and maintain the investment you have in your car and get months and years of pleasant, reliable transportation at a very low cost per mile.

THE FLYERS IN GERMANY
Captain Herman Yoebi and Baron von Huenfeld got a chilly reception the other day when they visited Vienna.

It seems that shortly before going to Vienna the two ocean flyers went to Doorn and paid a visit to the former German kaiser, Wilhelm. And Vienna is completely and everlastingly soured on Wilhelm. So this visit made a lot of the Viennese sour on Koehl and Von Huenfeld, also.

That's rather unfortunate, from the flyers' standpoint. But it's interesting, in that it shows just how the one-time "all highest" is regarded in the former capital of the dual monarchy which he led into war in 1914.

Austria didn't get much out of the war; and Austria apparently, remembers who was responsible.

LANDING IN THE DITCH
Almost every day one reads in the newspapers of some automobile driver who has landed his car and its occupants in the ditch, and quite frequently the car overturns. The reasons given for such mishaps are skidding, slippery roads, defective steering gear, etc. In the great majority of cases these things happen because the car was going "too fast." If a swiftly moving car strikes a defect in the road, the wrench given to the steering wheel may twist it out of the driver's grasp. These things rarely happen to cautious drivers.

OUR ROADS LEAD

Fifteen years ago, the roads of Europe were vastly superior to the roads of America. Now the situation is reversed, according to a speaker before the recent convention of the Society of Automotive Engineers at Quebec.

European roads were, in many cases, ruined by the war. Since then the financial difficulties in which the various governments have been involved have prevented the proper maintenance and repair of the highways.

In this country, on the other hand, tremendous strides have been made. The growing popularity of the automobile made good roads imperative. Fifteen years ago a man could drive 500 miles without traveling a tenth of that distance of pavement. Now, in most parts of the country, the reverse is true.

Money spent on highways is money well spent. This country has learned that lesson at last.

PUT GOOD MEALS FIRST

What makes a summer resort attractive? When you go over the vacation folders trying to pick one out, what are the deciding factors?

The American Summer Resort magazine recently decided to find out. It sent a questionnaire to hundreds of resort owners and operators, asking them to say what their experience had shown them to be the most important features of their establishments.

The answers are interesting. The item of good meals led all the rest. Next in order came the surroundings, followed by cleanliness. Training was miscellaneous amusements, golf courses, fishing and transportation facilities. Last of all came luxurious furnishings. That's interesting, especially the part about meals. A vacation isn't a vacation if the vacationer doesn't feel that his stomach is being treated in the style to which it is accustomed.

THE SCIOTO TRAIL

Of the many important paving projects inaugurated this year by the State Highway Department, none is more essential than those on the Scioto Trail between Portsmouth and Columbus.

This historic old road, which had its early beginning in Indian trails, has become the chief north and south highway across Ohio and each year sees an amazing increase in traffic over it. In many places that have not been hard-surfaced, it is inadequate to the traffic demands.

Director Kirk will have all southern Ohio shouting his praises if he will only continue to think of the Scioto Trail when he sits down to figure out where there is real need for spending highway funds and pushing new construction.

He has already let a contract this year for the paving of one gap in the Scioto Trail north of Circleville but there is still another important gap to be bridged between South Bloomfield and the Franklin County line. If he can see his way clear to start work on this latter section he will be doing something that will take care of a real traffic need.

GOOD PROTECTION

Love's Ecstasy
by May Christie

WHAT HAS HAPPENED SO FAR.

ALEDA RAY, pretty blue-eyed country girl, is working as a secretary in New York. She is deeply hurt when Gary Chester, young engineer whom she had aided after an automobile accident near her mountain home, fails to recognize her. Alela is living in the city, at the home of Marise de Rense, proprietor of the Harvest Moon Cabaret. The latter's sophisticated younger sister, Goldie, is an entertainer at the cabaret. Alela learns that the Countess Dellamancas, niece of her employer, is in love with Gary Chester. One evening, leaving the office, Alela meets Chester. Their first meeting since the accident, Gary seems delighted and, in a small restaurant nearby, tells Alela of his efforts to locate her. Next day, at the de Rense manor, Goldie receives a mysterious phone call.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XVIII.

IN the front parlor, of the shabby, comfortable house on West Fortieth Street Goldie de Rense faced Clive.

"Why all the mystery? What's the big idea? Spit it out!" inelungantly quoth she.

A glint of sunshine shone athwart the weak and handsome features of the Englishman. For the first time, Goldie noticed how near-set and how crafty were those eyes of his—"like the color of a dead codfish that's been lying a week on the beach," she told herself.

"You want to make money, don't you?" His tones were silky smooth. Those ultra-English accents riled the girl.

"Come off it! You know darned well I'm sick and tired of being poor! I was just thinking of kicking the traces altogether, like some of the girls I know! Men don't appreciate workers! They only take notice of the other kind, who've got horse sense enough to 'work' them to the last penny, and get away with it!"

"Ah! don't be a cynic!" Goldie glowered at the man.

"You think I'm not educated, like you are, and so you are off those high-bat words! But some day—soon you and Marie and that stuck-up Alela will find out that I'm no dumb-bell!"

He said, placatingly: "It's because I do know it that I'm here, waiting to trot out my little plan!"

"Go on, then! Shoot!" She sank back in a rocker, closed her eyes.

He lowered his voice. He touched her on the shoulder. "I don't want anyone to overhear. Will you come out with me?" She blinked up at him, astonished. "Trying to vamp me, huh? The blooming plot thickens!" She mimicked the refined, clipped tones.

Not many people know that diplomats, even though civilians, wear a distinctive uniform for formal occasions. The more gold on sleeve and collar the higher the rank. All wear dress swords. Their order of precedence is not governed, as many people think, by size or importance of the country. It hinges on length of service at a particular post. In other words, the man who has longest represented his country as ambassador at Washington comes first. He is called the ambassador.

Such Language!

From a merchant's notice to the public in Langfuss's, an open-air market in Peking:

"Notice! My dear customers! Please do not bring your ticketa boys with you when you come to Langfuss's to buy goods, because they want commission from us as they go. If we do not give them their will, they will come back and double one! And then a bottle of red wine!"

When they were both sipping together, and the strong stimulant reviving her, forgetful of Clive's "proposition," she was soon expatiating on the glories of last night.

"If I could only get hold of rich men's money, like Francine—"

Clive's eyes narrowed as he surveyed the pretty, discontented, predatory little face.

"Why don't you use your wits, then, Goldie? Why don't you capitalize your knowledge of the male?"

"You talk so big—"

But a little flush of interest crept into the cheeks, whose pallor previously had showed below the rouge. "You think I understand men, huh?"

"You know their weaknesses. And isn't this city full of men with more money than brains? Isn't it full of bored husbands and of suspicious wives?"

Over her cocktail, the girl's green eyes were fixed upon his face. He went on, suavely:

"Think of the number of lonesome men with cash to burn who float into this town. They'd be glad of introductions to amusing, pretty girls like yourself, Goldie! You couldn't handle them all! And here's where you could use your girl friends!"

"Good lord! Are you suggesting I should run a matrimonial agency? Go easy, Clive!" She was between laughter and annoyance.

He put his empty glass upon the table. He said, deliberately:

"I shouldn't call it that. You could execute a lot of tactful commissions without asking questions, and make a fine take-off."

"What sort of meeting place for gold-diggers? Pushing the lies into the spider's web, or what?"

He looked at her. There was a very crafty gleam in his light eyes. They narrowed as he said: "You'd be running a sort of agency for general information, and money would pour in on you in all sorts of ways. I shouldn't be so inartistic as to speak of spiders' webs."

"I'd rather say that the threads of a web's lot of plots and secret romances would be running through your fingers, Goldie! If you handled this thing right, you'd make a fortune—cheering up bored husbands, keeping tabs on men with more money than brains and maybe now and again helping out the suspicious wives!"

With a horrified gasp, Goldie breathed the words: "Blackmail!"

unique design, showing an athletic youth, elevating his way through space, while a cast of the inventor's head is on a front panel. Marcus introduced an automobile as early as 1894, and, in 1878, he devised one that had many of the advantages of the car of today.

12 Years Ago in Circleville

The fire in Williamsport Sunday did damage to the extent of $25,000. The Knights of Pythias Hall, Schoedinger and Radcliffe business rooms were destroyed. The Circleville fire department lent aid and did effective work in saving the business section from total destruction.

Ray Huffer of near Williamsport, was badly injured in a collision between two buggies on the Williamsport pike.

Wednesday the government thermometer registered 97 degrees in the shade. At noon on Thursday, the thermometer registered 102.

Miss Elizabeth Dunlap entertained with a fishing party Wednesday along Scioto creek, in honor of her cousin, Master Richard Abernethy from New York City. The party was chaperoned by Judge Abernethy, grandfather of the hostess. A picnic supper was enjoyed. George Kennedy, administrator of the late William Kinney, sold the stock of groceries Wednesday to Clarence Wolfe. Mr. Wolfe had been clerking at the grocery store of his father-in-law.

W. H. Lamb, operator at the Norfolk and Western Railroad Co., tower was overcome by heat Friday at noon. Dr. Heffner attended him.

The mid-summer dance given by the C. A. C. Tuesday evening was a most delightful affair with thirty-five couples in attendance. Music was furnished by Miss Alys Seitz and Mr. Edgar Friedman. Junior Folsom and Elliott Marfield were home from Camp Willis to attend.

Superintendent W. T. Trump of the public schools, has returned home from Westerville where he closed the summer school at Otterbein University.

SPLIT IN OHIO'S ANTI-SALOON RANK APPEARS IMMINENT

Neutral Attitude Taken Between Begg's and Cooper's Candidacy.

COLUMBUS, August 2.—The wide open split in the ranks of the anti-saloon league, which was threatened when the non-Partisan policy committee at its meeting here recently refused to make an equivocal endorsement of Myers Y. Cooper for the Republican nomination for governor and took a neutral attitude between him and James T. Begg, appeared to be nearer today.

The split centers around the marked ballots which have been sent out from anti-saloon league headquarters here signed by Dr. E. J. Moore, superintendent. These ballots indicate that the support of league will be thrown to Cooper, at least officially.

This action, which it is said is in direct conflict with the decision of the policy committee, has aroused the anger of E. R. Root, of Medina, one of the founders of the league and one of the principal financial contributors in the state. Root was denied the privilege of appearing before the policy committee at its meeting in support of Begg and at that time threatened to take summary action against the officers of the league if they persisted in running contrary to the decision of the committee and give the endorsement of the league to Cooper.

Root has been joined in his fight of the league officials by Norman Sherwood of Fremont, long prominent in the anti-saloon league.

SO THIS IS AMERICA

WAUKEGAN, ILL., Aug. 2.—A bandit who has robbed 12 stores here recently, leaving a card signed "The Lonely One" in each place, wrote a newspaper reporter complaining he was not getting proper publicity.

What Does the IGNITION SYSTEM

Mean To Your Automobile?

The motor, rear axle, and other mechanical parts of your automobile are of vital importance to its operation. But these parts can not function properly without the ignition system in good working order. The Ignition System is a complicated set of wiring, etc., to the average driver, and should have the scientific attention of a specialist, when needing repair.

We have a fully equipped shop to handle all kinds of battery and ignition work, which assures you satisfactory repair and perfect operation from the electrical system on your automobile.

Bring your car in and we'll check the ignition system for you.

IN the front parlor of the shabby, comfortable house on West Fortieth Street Goldie de Rense faced Clive.

"Why all the mystery? What's the big idea? Spit it out!" ineluctably quoth she.

A glint of sunshine shone athwart the weak and handsome features of the Englishman. For the first time, Goldie noticed how near-set and how crafty were those eyes of his—like the color of a dead codfish that's been lying a week on the beach!" she told herself.

"You want to make money, don't you?" His tones were silky smooth. Those ultra-English accents riled the girl.

"Come off it! You know darned well I'm sick and tired of being poor! I was just thinking of kicking the traces altogether, like some of the girls I know! Men don't appreciate workers! They only take notice of the other kind, who've got horse sense enough to 'work' them to the last penny, and get away with it!"

"Ah! don't be a cynic!" Goldie glowered at the man.

"You think I'm not educated, like you are, and so you fire off those high-bat words! But some day—soon—you and Marise and that stuck-up Alela will find out that I'm no dumb-bell!"

He said, placatingly: "It's because I do know that I'm here, waiting to trot out my little plan."

"Go on, then! Shoot!" She sank back in a rocker, closed her eyes.

He lowered his voice. He touched her on the shoulder. "I don't want anyone to overhear. Will you come out with me?"

She blinked up at him, astonished. "Trying to vamp me, huh? The blooming plot thickens!" She mimicked the refined, clipped tones.

Diplomatic Privileges

Not many people know that diplomats, even though civilians, wear a distinctive uniform for formal occasions. The more gold on sleeve and collar the higher the rank. All wear dress swords. Their order of precedence is not governed, as many people think, by size or importance of the country. It hinges on length of service at a particular post. In other words, the man who has longest represented his country as ambassador at Washington comes first. He is called the dean of the diplomatic corps.—Pathfinder Magazine.

Such Language!

From a merchant's notice to the public in Langfuss, an open-air market in Peking:
"Notice!! My dear customers! Please do not bring your picksha boys with you when you come to Langfuss to buy goods, because they want commission from us as they go. If we do not give them they will quarrel you by some bad

Great Singer Famous for Her "Temperament"

The great Patti's mother—also a noted prima donna—was a victim of that besetting sin, jealousy. One evening, relates Emma Calvé, singing with a colleague who had false eyebrows, the elder Patti, jealous and furious at the success of her comrade, began to stare at her fixedly.

"What is the matter?" the other whispered under her breath.

"Your right eyebrow has fallen off," came the answer.

The poor victim, horrified, tore off her left eyebrow, and remained for the rest of the act with only her right one in place.

On another occasion Patti's mother became annoyed at the applause given Labache, perhaps the greatest basso of all time. She seized one of the wreaths destined for him and, planting it on her own head, approached the footlights.

"I have well deserved it myself," she exclaimed to an astonished audience. —Kansas City Star.

Do Honor to Marcus

Austrians have honored the name of Siegfried Marcus, credited with the invention of the modern automobile, by erecting a statue to his memory in Vienna says Popular Mechanics Magazine. It is of unique design, showing an athletic youth cleaving his way through space, while a cast of the inventor's head is on a front panel. Marcus introduced an automobile as early as 1864 and, in 1875, he devised one that had many of the advantages of the car of today.

12 Years Ago in Circleville

The fire in Williamsport Sunday did damage to the extent of $25,000. The Knights of Pythias Hall, Schoedinger and Radcliffe business rooms were destroyed. The Circleville fire department lent aid and did effective work in saving the business section from total destruction.

Ray Huffer of near Williamsport, was badly injured in a collision between two buggies on the Williamsport pike.

Wednesday the government thermometer registered 97 degrees in the shade. At noon on Thursday, the thermometer registered 102.

Miss Elizabeth Dunlap entertained with a fishing party Wednesday along Scioppo creek, in honor of her cousin, Master Richard Abernethy from New York City. The party was chaperoned by Judge Abernethy, grandfather of the hostess. A picnic supper was enjoyed. George Kennedy, administrator of the late William Kinney, sold the stock of groceries Wednesday to Clarence Wolfe. Mr. Wolfe had been clerking at the grocery store of his father-in-law.

W. H. Lamb, operator at the Norfolk and Western Railroad Co., tower was overcome by heat Friday at noon. Dr. Heffner attended him.

The mid-summer dance given by the C. A. C. Tuesday evening was a most delightful affair with thirty-five couples in attendance. Music was furnished by Miss Alys Seltz and Mr. Edgar Friedman. Junior Folsom and Elliott Marfield were home from Camp Willis to attend.

Superintendent W. T. Trump of the public schools, has returned home from Westerville where he closed the summer school at Otterbein University.

WAUKEGAN, ILL., Aug. 2.—A bandit who has robbed 12 stores here recently, leaving a card signed "The Lonely One" in each place, wrote a newspaper reporter complaining he was not getting proper publicity.

SPLIT IN OHIO'S ANTI-SALOON RANK APPEARS IMMINENT

Neutral Attitude Taken Between Begg's and Cooper's Candidacy.

COLUMBUS, August, 2.—The wide open split in the ranks of the anti-saloon league, which was threatened when the non-Partisan policy committee at its meeting here recently refused to make an equivocal indorsement of Myers Y. Cooper for the Republican nomination for governor and took a neutral attitude between him and James T. Begg, appeared to be nearer today.

The split centers around the marked ballots which have been sent out from anti-saloon league headquarters here signed by Dr. E. J. Moore, superintendent. These ballots indicate that the support of league will be thrown to Cooper, at least officially.

This action, which it is said is in direct conflict with the decision of the policy committee, has aroused the anger of E. R. Root, of Medina, one of the founders of the league and one of the principal financial contributors in the state. Root was denied the privilege of appearing before the policy committee at its meeting in support of Begg and at that time threatened to take summary action against the officers of the league if they persisted in running contrary to the decision of the committee and give the indorsement of the league to Cooper.

Root has been joined in his fight of the league officials by Norman Sherwood of Fremont, long prominent in the anti-saloon league.

COMPLETING PLANS FOR EAGLES MEET

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 2—Led by L. V. Westerman of Seattle, grand worthy president, several score officials and committee members of the Fraternal Order of Eagles arrived in Columbus today to complete plans for the grand nerie convention here next week.

Among officers of the organization who are here are Edward T. Dixon, Cincinnati, member of the judiciary committee, and Edward Barry, Cleveland, deputy auditor.

BRINGING UP FATHER.

WHAT YOU SAY THE BUTCHER LEFT SIX POUNDS OF CORNED BEEF AND CABBAGE?

YES, MUM.

WELL, GET HIM ON THE PHONE RIGHT AWAY AND HAVE HIM TAKE IT BACK IMMEDIATELY. TELL HIM I NEVER ORDERED THAT VULGAR FOOD. WHAT WOULD OUR SOCIETY NEIGHBORS SAY?

ALL RIGHT.

I HAVE AN IDEA YOU ORDERED THAT. I'LL SOON FIND OUT WHY, IF THOSE SWELL PEOPLE. THE DE PLASTERS, KNEW WE HAD SUCH STUFF IN THE HOUSE IT WOULD RUIN US SOCIALLY.

HE'S SORRY, MUM. THE DELIVERY BOY MADE THE MISTAKE. IT WAS FOR THE DE PLASTERS.

JUST KIDS—A RISKY ERRAND FOR PAT.

IT'S TIME FOR A COUPLE OF BOYS TO GO TO BED, BUT BEFORE YOU GO I WANT MY APPLE DUMPLING TO RUN DOWN TO THE CORNER AND MAIL A LETTER.

AW-MOM, CAN'T I JUST FINISH THIS CHAPTER FIRST?

CONSIDER IT AN HONOR TO TAKE THE LETTER TO THE MAIL BOX WHILE HIS FRIEND MUSH FINISHES HIS MOST INTERESTING CHAPTER.

YOU'RE A DEAR LITTLE BOY—PAT—HURRY RIGHT BACK FOR ITS TIME TO GO TO BED.

WHAT DOES LITTLE PAT SEE AT THE MAIL BOX?

GOOD-NIGHT! THAT PIECE OF CHEESE IN THERE IS STARTING TO WARM UP.

YOU'D BETTER BEEZE IN THERE AND SEE IF YOU CAN'T PERSUADE THAT CLAM TO SOAK UP FOR A HOUR OR SO—WHILE THE WATERS HOT.

AW-RENT TIL TIL TO—GEE HE'S A RUFFY GUNNIN.

GEE GUS—LUCKY TEE YOU—THE WIFE EYED YOU UP A TUB FULL OF NICE, HOT WATER AND—SAYS AND SHE'S NICE SWEET SWEET BATH SALT.

CH FINE! I WAS JUST DREAMING YOU IF YOU HAD ANY HOT WATER.

CAUSE I GOT MY PINE OF BOOTS TO WASH OUT—HOW I LET MY BOOTS IN THE TUB OVERNIGHT.

DO YOU KNOW WHY—WE'RE ALL IN THE SAME BOAT?

BRIDGE GIRLS AND BOYS HAVE BIG REUNION

The second reunion of the Bridge girls and boys and a few friends took place at the beautiful country home of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Spangler northeast of Cedar Hill on the Cedar Hill Lancaster pike. The day was certainly ideal for the occasion.

All came with picnic dinners and at the noon hour a bountiful dinner of all the good things of the season was self served by the 71 guests present.

The afternoon was spent in the usual entertaining manner. The four Huffer brothers sang a number of songs. Violin music was furnished by Mrs. Clara Hammer and John Trone accompanied by Mrs. H. H. Trone at the piano. The old-time music was fully enjoyed by all. There was instrumental and vocal music by quite a number of others also. Miss Edna Trone spoke several selections.

The guest list was as follows: Mr. and Mrs. Ora Bright, Fairy and Ormand Bright, Mr. and Mrs. Byron Armstrong, Mr. and Mrs. George Mallon and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hodge of Columbus, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Bell, Harold Lloyd and Emma Bell, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Trone, Edna Trone, Lancaster, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. D. Barr, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Zehring, Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Valentine, Mary and Mabel Valentine of Tarenton, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kiger, Ethel and Melvin Kiger, Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Mosey, Mr. and Mrs. John Trone, Misses Amanda and Iva Phelps and Miss Emma Stout, Circleville, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Trone, Chillicothe, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Spangler, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Spangler, Emmett Huffer, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Huffer, Hugh and Betsy Huffer, Cedar Hill, O.; Mr. and Mrs. Kirby Huffer, Melvin and George Barton Huffer, Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Huffer, Eugene Emerson and Opal Huffer, Mr. and Mrs. John S. Bowman, son, Wayne, and Raymond Riegel, of Amanda, Ohio; S. S. Stout, Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Bell, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Warner, Ashville, Ohio; Lucile Aldenderfer, Salt Creek Valley; Iretha Aldenderfer, Walnut, O.

The next reunion will be held at the beautiful country home of Mr. and Mrs. Kirby Huffer, south of Cedar Hill.

SUCCESSFUL FUNCTION HELD AT COUNTRY CLUB

The bridge party at the Pickaway Country club Wednesday afternoon, was the second delightful social function for the women members. There were 13 tables of bridge players assembled in the house and on the spacious porch where the always pleasant breeze, once more served to make the affair a comfortable and enjoyable afternoon.

The club house was bedecked with a profusion of beautifully colored garden flowers, with those of yellow and white in predominance. As the sixty guests gathered, the spirit of cordiality grew, and it was in this genial spirit, that the 13 tables started the bridge game and progressed during the entire afternoon.

After the final round at cards, the scores were added, resulting in the high prize being awarded to Miss Elizabeth Pond, of Montclair, N. J., and the low prize to Mrs. George H. Pickard, of E. Main-st. Both trophies were attractive and showed excellent taste of the committee.

The refreshments which were served at the conclusion of the game, were individual cakes covered with yellow icing and fruit ice, also yellow, and very cool and refreshing as well as being tempting in appearance, for such a torrid day.

The committee who so successfully managed this affair were Mrs. Edgar Barrere, chairman, and she was assisted by other hostesses; Mrs. O. D. Mader, Mrs. F. B. Brunner, Mrs. Charles Gilmore, Mrs. H. M. Crites and Mrs. Charles Mason.

There were several guests present from out-of-town. Mrs. Frank Beck of Huntington, W. Va., was the guest of Mrs. Karl Herrmann, Mrs. Donald Smith, of Toledo, was the guest of her sister, Mrs. F. J. Bennett, and Miss Elizabeth Pond of Montclair, N. J., was present at the table of Mrs. C. K. Hunsicker.

FORMER RESIDENTS AT BOGGS HOTEL

Hitt and her daughter-in-law, Mr. Jo Hitt, of Urbana, and son, Jo Jr., and Mrs. Bert Hitt of Lansing, Mich., and her daughter-in-law Mrs. Bert Hitt Jr., of Kalamazoo, Mich., were motor visitors at the Boggs hotel, and had dinner there Wednesday evening. Mrs. George Hitt is a former resident of Circleville and will be remembered as Miss Julia Van Meter. Mrs. Hitt was Miss Van Meter before her marriage. They met and talked with a number of their Circleville friends while in town Wednesday.

MRS. BECK TO BE COMPLEMENTED AT PARTY

Mrs. Lawrence Goeller will entertain at her home on Beverly rd. Thursday night for the pleasure of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Frank Beck, of Huntington, W. Va. The guests have been invited for 8:30 o'clock.

FRANK DAVIS JR. TO CELEBRATE BIRTHDAY

Mrs. Frank Davis of W. Franklin-st. will have a party Friday afternoon for her little son, Frank Jr.'s birthday anniversary. His guests will be the members of Mrs. Tom Renick's kindergarten class which he attended the past winter. Several other little friends have also been invited.

VADA SUMMERS IS HONOR GUEST

Mrs. Harold Grant entertained with a charming afternoon party Wednesday as a compliment to her sister, Miss Vada Summers, who is visiting her from Lexington, Ky. Carefully chosen summer flowers in bright shades, had been arranged in the room where the two tables of guests played during the afternoon. At 5 o'clock the hostess served a supper of a delicious refreshing menu. Miss Mary Alice Beles, who had the highest score, received a handsome prize, while Miss Summers was presented with a beautiful guest prize.

BRIDGE CLUB TO PICNIC

Friday evening, the bridge club of which Mrs. Frank Beck was once a member will have a picnic at Scioto in her honor. She is visiting her aunt, Miss Mattie Ebert, of N. Court-st.
